CRUISE COMPASS

DAY 5 Wednesday, February 6, 2013

Bask In The Beauty Of Basseterre.

Columbus sailed past the island of St. Kitts, never actually landing on its pink-sand beaches. Yet by the time French and English settlers arrived in the 1620's, this lush paradise was known as St. Christopher. The town of Basseterre, one of the oldest in the Eastern Caribbean, was originally part of the French colony. Then in 1727, the British made Basseterre the capital of the entire island. It was right around this time that the world fell in love with sugar. And St. Kitts, with its rich volcanic soil and tropical climate, had just the right conditions for a booming industry. At one point, 68 sugar plantations dotted the 68-acre island.

The glory days of sugar may be long gone, but you can still see remnants of the old plantations in the midst of swaying sugar cane fields. The island's colonial history is also reflected in the abandoned fortresses, city squares and architectural details. Her dormant volcanoes and rugged mountains are the perfect setting for hiking, with spectacular panoramic views from the Crater base of Mount Liamuiga.
